MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

I hope that all members of my ICP "family" are well and will be attending South Africa and Sevilla meetings in the coming new year.

I should like you to know that I have made some effort to obtain further members by writing a short article in 'The Psychologist' which is the publication of the British Psychological Society, asking members to join ICP and make contact with Julia, our Membership Secretary. I know a number of other people have made great efforts and I am particularly delighted to praise our President Elect, Tara Pir for the effort that she has made to gain new members in the past.

I naturally hope that there are others among the membership who have made similar efforts to gain new members, for only by doing so will we continue to prosper and exist! Those who are working in universities are especially in a position to encourage membership from their student body who are in the field of psychology or who are just starting to study psychology, or who are in the advanced stages of further degrees in psychology. Those in private practice may have more difficulties but they too perhaps could provide us with members from their organisations or their friends to increase our numbers in that area also.

It is important to encourage new members, or when seeking new members to urge them to present papers at our annual conferences, and therefore to involve them personally not merely as members but as participating members also.

It is difficult to know who to praise most for all the efforts made to encourage ICP towards a better future. Individuals such as Ann O'Roarke (Past President), Gerald Gamache (Treasurer), Tara Pir (President Elect) and our Board of Directors, and many others who have given their time and energy to our cause. I would encourage all of you to continue making every possible effort to obtain new members and encourage them to participate in the coming conference in Sevilla in 2012.

I am reminded of the phrase I was told to type, because it contained all the letter of the alphabet, when I started a course in typing which was: "Now is the time for all good men (and of course women) to come to the aid of their party." Our party is ICP, our family is ICP. I hope all of us will support our family in every possible way.

When good things happen we all rejoice, when unhappy things happen I personally, and I am sure others also, commiserate with those who have tragedies in their lives. This is what a family is for. It is this which keeps me in my latter years, hopefully not dotage years, a continued member of ICP, as I truly believe we are a very special organisation with very special people within it. I hope you all feel exactly the same as I do. The holidays are just around the corner, and as President of our wonderful organisation I wish everyone happiness, a good rest, and inspirations for the coming new year.

Ludwig Lowenstein

BOARD REPORTS

MESSAGE FROM THE PAST PRESIDENT

Dr. Ann M. O'Roark

INCLUSION, COLLABORATION, SHARED VALUES

Ann Marie O'Roark, PhD, ABAP

St. Augustine, Florida. December

2011. As ICP opens the 2012 calendar, we wrap up celebrating 2011 with ICP's 70th birthday on December 15 and begin mapping fresh beginnings. At age 70, ICP's core value for inclusion and global wellness took a giant step into the future by opening full membership to colleagues from allied discipline. ICP, Inc. is beginning a new era of inclusion, Nexalism. This word, coined to describe a structured, deliberate interdisciplinary science, represents an advance into consilience, where multiple sources of knowledge are brought to bear on understanding our world and ourselves: reality's nature and workings, issues and needs, productive and the destructive dynamics. For nexalism and consilience to be successful it will take patient collaboration and solidarity in shared values.

BOARD NOMINATIONS. Along with year end gifts of dues and special contributions to ICP, please take time to think about ICP's talented members. Send your suggestions for Treasurer, for four Directors at Large, for a Student Representative, and for an Early Career Representative.

All members are eligible to be nominated. Consider nominating a member who is from an allied discipline background. Graduate Students who are members can be nominated for the Student Representative Board position. The Board also now has a voting spot for an Early Career Representative. Since the Presidential term is currently set at two years, that office will not be on the ballot until 2013. The Membership Chair and World Area Chair Coordinator are included as voting members of the Board of Directors. Both incumbents complete their second terms in another year. Elected and appointed leaders, other than the Presidential positions, can serve two consecutive three year terms. After a year's hiatus, these leaders are eligible for nomination to that or another position. Please refer to the list of 2011-12 leaders to see who is currently in office.

ICP strives for a broad composition that assures a broad international voice. Please consider for nomination member-colleagues from Asia, South America, Africa, and Europe. Nominations from North America are welcome, however, since last year three of the four Directors at Large elected are from the United States of America, committee review will be focused on candidates from other areas.

The 2011-12 Nominations and Elections Committee: Chair: Past President Ann Marie O'Roark; Nominating Committee Members: Past Presidents Chok Hiew, Dennis Trent, and Natividad Dayan. Elections: Ms. Nancy Quatrano, a non member, will receive and report votes as she has in previous years to guarantee anonymity and confidentiality. A ballot will be distributed in the Spring of 2012.

PsychEXTRA. President Lowenstein asked me to explore possibilities of including conference materials, abstracts, newsletters, and annual reports in PsychEXTRA, a research database produced by the American Psychological Association, complementary resource to PsychINFO. The PsychEXTRA publication is geared to be a resource for information and data on "cutting edge research and practice in the behavioral and social sciences, and [to be] used in academic, medical, and government institutions worldwide." (correspondence from Jill Bleamers, Aug. 29, 2011). Participation in PsychEXTRA is free. A three year renewable contract is under consideration. Referred to as a "grey" zone publication, it incorporates publications issued by government agencies, universities, private research institutes, psychology labs, scientific societies, professional associations, and other vetted organizations. Inclusion in PsychEXTRA should make conference presenters work more visible to the research community and more easily citable. More information is available at <http://www.apa.org/pubs/databases/psychextra/index.aspx>

With seasons greetings and warm good wishes for each member, I wish you and ICP a year of interesting ventures and forward progress.

Ann Marie O'Roark

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT-ELECT

Dr. Tara Pir

Greetings!

My goal as president-elect is to promote the spirit of "inclusion by design" to engage and recruit members from around the world. ICP is the only professional psychological organization that welcomes colleagues of all its disciplines from around the world. With this in mind, I have conducted recent activities to solicit partnership and networking opportunities with similar organizations, such as the Armenian American Mental Health Association, to propose affiliation through a collaborative relationship. I have also conducted local meetings with APA's Division 52 in this same spirit of inclusion and collaboration. I hope to inspire you, as well, to take initiative within your own local communities to reach out and extend our membership and connectivity.

One of my duties as president-elect is to be in charge of the scientific program for the annual convention in Seville, Spain, to be held September 10-14, 2012. I am pleased to be a part of the celebration of 70 years of success for our organization, which is highlighted with the convention theme of: "Celebrating Seventy Years of Working towards Health, Peace, and Social Justice." This is a very meaningful time and era for radical transformation of women's role in the world. Additionally, immigration is a major phenomenon that reflects the fact that within the last decade many of the geographical and political boundaries of the world have been changing. As a result, the world is getting both bigger and smaller in a sense. For that matter, human rights are more available for people to exercise choice rather than force. As the world no longer has rigid boundaries, there is no place in the world that is not affected by this transformation.

Therefore I am inviting all of our members from all corners of the world to participate in this convention and bring their wisdom, knowledge, and experience to be shared with the global members of our organization in Seville. This way we can contribute to each other's growth and development in an atmosphere of collaboration. I invite you to respond positively to the following suggests: 1) renew your membership or become a new member by visiting our website at www.icpweb.org; and 2) submit an abstract proposal for the ICP annual convention in Seville (September 10-14, 2012).

The deadline for submission is March 15, 2012, and proposal application forms will be posted on the ICP website.

Please join me to create an exciting and evolutionary event with a successful outcome in our convention this upcoming year.

Your participation is vital to ensure that our next convention truly reflects the depth of knowledge and diversity of our members and our organization.

Warm regards,
Dr. Tara Pir

BOARD SECRETARY REPORT

Donna Goetz

President Ann Marie O'Roark presided over the Outgoing Board Meeting. She announced that Florence Denmark, former ICP President, had been selected to receive the highest award given by the American Psychological Association, the APA Award for Outstanding Lifetime

Contributions to Psychology. The award was presented at APA's annual conference held in Washington, D. C. after the ICP conference. Florence's family and many of the ICP members were there at the award ceremony to congratulate Florence.

Julia Rose, Membership Chair, reported that 47 new members were recruited to ICP during the past year. She sent ICP membership applications to universities and clinics in the UK. Tara Pir, President-Elect, paid for 30 new memberships for new members from California. President-Elect Ludwig Lowenstein mailed letters to psychological organizations worldwide and advertised in the Psychologist, the British Psychological Society's publication. Ludwig appealed to all members to increase recruiting so that ICP can remain strong.

After ten years of leadership, Dietrich Albert resigned as chair of the Early Career Award Committee and nominated Cecilia Cheng, a current member to lead the committee. Gerald Gamache, Treasurer, reported on cost-cutting measures that he has undertaken and introduced Assistant Treasurer, Scott Fraser who made additional recommendations. The Board agreed that increasing memberships and keeping the cost of conventions as low as possible so that more people can attend are goals for ICP.

Ludwig Lowenstein presided over the Incoming Board Meeting. He praised the work of Ann Marie O'Roark, the outgoing president and presented her with two gifts from the Board to thank her for all her inspiring encouragement on behalf of ICP.

In 2010, the board decided to hold the 2012 convention in Cape Town, South Africa in conjunction with the International Congress of Psychology. Tara Pir said that it would be too expensive for most members to attend both conventions in Cape Town along with the cost of air travel. Since the 2011 convention had low attendance, the board decided to look for an alternate site for 2012 convention.

Ana Guil offered to host the convention at her institution, the University of Seville. A. Guil suggested that holding the meeting in September would lower the costs as the university dormitories would be available. Dates were tentatively set for September 12-16, 2012. With little time to prepare, A. Guil made a Power Point presentation showing some of the facilities in Seville. Robert Morgan, Director at Large, offered to submit a bid to the Singapore Tourist Board to host the convention there in 2013.

Donna Goetz, Secretary, and Julia Rose and Joy Rice, Liaison Chair, offered to assist Tara Pir the scientific program for the 2012 meeting. Anna Laura Comunian is editing the proceedings from the 2010 annual convention in Chicago.

L. Lowenstein asked the board members to take a leadership role in recruiting new members and in making donations to ICP. Tara Pir requested that each board member contribute $100-1000 depending on their means.

The theme for the ICP 70th Annual Meeting is "Seventy Years of Working towards Health, Peace, and Social Justice." There are two tracks for presentations: (1) Women and (2) Immigration. We hope to see many of you in Seville, Spain in September 2012.

University of Sevilla, Spain

MESSAGE FROM THE TREASURER

Gerald L. Gamache, PhD, USA

25 November 2011

Dear Colleagues,

As we in the United States celebrated Thanksgiving Day yesterday I hope all of you paused to give special thanks to our President Ludwig and our fine Board of Directors. The second call for dues was delivered by e-mail earlier this week and the mail copy for those not having e-mail addresses will be sent out shortly. I encourage each of you to respond to the call for dues as I have to prepare the 2012 budget in January. In order to do so I need a firm figure of revenues. As of today, 13% of our members have paid their 2012 dues. This is about half of the dues paid last year at this time. President Ludwig's message on recruitment should call all of us to action.

Since our annual convention in Washington, D.C. several fantastic events have occurred which should be of great rejoicing among the membership. First, Dr. Machiko Fukuhara has donated $10,000 (USD) for an annual award which will be further discussed by the finance committee.

In addition, I opened a Bank of America interest bearing Money Market account to deposit our savings and this generous gift. An interest bearing Money Market account means we still have access to our funds, as opposed to the CD, and the interest rate (.025) is comparable to the CD rates.

Finally, all bills from the D.C. conference are paid and my report to the Executive Board has been made. Our revenue for the 69th convention was $18,782.63 and our expenses were $18,535.24 which gave us a profit of $247.38. However, to accomplish this required over $7,000 of donated funds and goods/services. ICP is being sustained through the generosity of a few individuals and this simply cannot go on forever.

Jerry Gamache, Ph. D.

INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL OF PSYCHOLOGISTS, INC.

The Fukuhara Advanced International Psychology Research and Service Award

AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH AND SERVICE. This award is given to a midcareer or senior level psychologist with distinguished contributions to international psychology in research and service and is funded through an ICP, Inc. Award Fund established by Dr. Machiko Fukuhara, past Treasurer of ICP, Inc., Organizer of the 1990 ICP conference in Tokyo, research collaborator with past president Charles D. Spielberger on State-Trait Measures of Anxiety, Anger, Curiosity, and Depression. Dr. Fukuhara served two terms on the Board of the International Association of Applied Psychology and is Director of the Japanese Association of Microcounseling, Director of Psychoeducation Institute, and Honorary Professor of Tokiwa University. Dr. Fukuhara epitomizes the standards of excellence that ICP, Inc. and this Advanced International Psychology Research and Service Award seek to perpetuate.

The award is accompanied by a $300 check, a certificate, conference registration for participation and presentation at the annual conference, and the next year's dues for ICP membership.

AWARD MANAGEMENT. The Fukuhara Award for Excellence in International Research and Service is managed through the ICP, Inc. Finance Committee and a Committee of five members appointed by the President to oversee the procedures of selecting and presenting the award.

The Finance committee manages the investment of the Fukuhara Fund to assure sufficient monies are available in the operations account to cover all expenses of the award. A report is submitted to the President and Board annually.

The Fukuhara Award Committee publishes the call for candidates, who may be nominated by members and by self nomination in the fall and winter before the annual conference. The committee manages all aspects of communications, selection and presentation of the award and assures a time in the scientific program for the recipient's presentation. All committee members review nominees to determine the recipient on the basis of a five criteria, each criterion weighted 1-5 with 5 the maximum:

1. A resume that reports reviewed [juried] publications
2. Participation in international conferences and programs
3. Unique and outstanding research with international implications / applications
4. Leadership in international associations and organizations
5. Evidence of being an exemplar of ICP, Inc. values and professional ethics

ICP 70th CONFERENCE Sevilla, 10-14 September 2012

CELEBRATING 70 YEARS OF WORKING TOWARDS HEALTH, PEACE AND SOCIAL JUSTICE Women & Immigration

The next International Council of Psychologists' Annual Meeting will be celebrated in the University of Sevilla (Spain), from 10 to 14 September in 2012.

Situated on the shores of river Guadalquivir, its capital -Sevilla- has the fame of being one of the most beautiful cities in Spain, with approximately 700.000 habitants. Its climate is very pleasant in the spring and autumn; and beer, wine and tapas (appetizer) are of reasonable prize, variety and exquisite.

Sevilla is located in the South of Europe, near Africa. You can arrive by plane (0:50h from Madrid) or by train "Ave" (2:30h from Madrid).

Its University, founded in 1551 is the oldest in Europe and in actuality one of the biggest in size and excellence in Spain, with 70.000 students and over 4.000 teachers and investigators.

Its more emblematic building -the rectory- is located in the Old Tobacco Factory, where it assumes that the mythical Carmen worked (the protagonist of the novel of Prosper Mérimée, which used Georges Bizet in its famous Opera).

Psychology studies started at the University of Sevilla 36 years ago. Today, its teaching personnel are divided into four departments: Personality, Evaluation and Psychological Treatments; Developmental and Educational Psychology and Experimental Psychology; and Social Psychology.

And it also bestows the Grade of Psychology, seven different Masters: Educational Psychology; Health Psychology; Social Intervention and Community Psychology; International Migrations, Health and Wellbeing: Models and Strategies of Interventions; Organizational and Work Psychology; Advanced Studies in Brain and Behaviour; and Family Mediation Intervention.

Address: Faculty of Psychology, Campus de Ramón y Cajal, Calle Camilo José Cela s/n, Sevilla 41018

ATOP Meaningfulworld participates in the NYSPA Mind & Body Health Fair

Danielle Marie Caminneci

On September 25th, 2011 the Association of Trauma Outreach and Prevention (ATOP) of Meaningfulworld participated in the New York State Psychology Association's (NYSPA) first Mind & Body Health Fair, held at the Brooklyn Public Library. It was the first fair of its kind, established to promote psychology and the benefits of mind and body health to the public. In front of the library doors were informational tables ran by excited representatives of various organizations eager to share the opportunities they had to offer on proactively increasing well being. It was nearly impossible for a library visitor to not stop and join the movement. With rhythmic background music, a stream of "20- minute" live speakers; educating listeners on the importance of mental and physical nutrition, and a "children's corner" with face painting and meaningful drawing activities- it was an entertaining and helpful experience for everyone. There was also free HIV testing on the third floor inside the library.

Danielle Caminneci, intern for ATOP and Jennifer De Mucci, Vice President of ATOP offered informational pamphlets on the organization, event flyers and calendars, as well as trauma and forgiveness questionnaires for people to take in order to identify their levels of trauma, and levels of forgiveness. Our unique and world-renowned integrative and holistic healing model, the 7-step Biopsychosocial and Eco-Spiritual model, used in all our mental health outreaches around the globe with wonderful success was distributed to all visitors. We also shared several books focused on healing mass generational trauma and implementing skills of forgiveness written by Dr. Ani Kalayjian, Founder and President of ATOP. Also, CD's in 4 languages on Ancestral Healing and Transforming Generational Trauma "From War To Peace" were available to order.

We were honored to be able to provide people with bits of information and to be able to represent the organization in such a unique environment; sharing smiles, useful tips on healthy and mindful living and engaging in meaningful conversation. We were able to connect with many individuals representing like-minded organizations and therefore strengthened and empowered the health conscious community in New York City. We hope this Mind-Body fair will continue to grow into a larger, more celebrated event integrating the Spirit in the coming years.

SEASON'S GREETINGS . . .

May your life be blessed.

May your soul be free to direct your mind.

May peace be the first choice and the last memory of each day.

May you have happy work through which to share your special gifts.

May you have dear friends to ease your sorrows and multiply your joys.

In the New Year, may your dreams take form and make a real difference in this world.

May you dare to be all that you came into this lifetime to be.

May you remember how essential you are to God's plan.

And may you ask for and receive all the help you need along the way.

Call for 2012 CE Workshops

 The ICP Continuing Education Committee is looking into establishing ICP CE workshops in the future. A survey of interests is underway.

 The theme for the upcoming conference is CELEBRATING 70 YEARS OF WORKING TOWARDS HEALTH, PEACE AND SOCIAL JUSTICE featuring two special tracks: Women & Immigration.

 Those who wish to submit a proposal for the 2012 annual ICP conference in Seville are invited to send their outline and abstract to Dr. Ani Kalayjian [drkalayjian@meaningfulworld.com].

ICP, Inc. UNITED NATIONS NGO / DPI 1981

Florence L. Denmark
UN/ICP Main Representative

ICP members are quite active at the United Nations.

ICP board member and APA UN representative Janet Sigal and ICP UN representative Martin Butler are co-chairs of this year's 5th annual Psychology Day. This event will take place on April 19, 2012. The theme is "Human Rights of Vulnerable People: Contributions of Psychologists to the UN agenda."

Tara Pir, UN representative from the Institute for Multicultural Counseling & Education Services, Inc. (IMCES) and ICP's President-Elect, submitted a roundtable discussion to the International Congress of Psychology. The title round table is "Creating Local Sustainability While Connecting at the Global Level: The Challenges and Opportunities of Ageing in the Technological Era" of ICP members on the symposium include: Florence Denmark, Ph.D. ; Robert Morgan, Ph.D. ; Justina Aire, Ph.D. ; Sarlito Sarwono, Ph.D.

ICP board member Neal Rubin is an APA representative to the UN and is on the planning committee for Psychology Day.

ICP representative Pete Walker is on the Executive Committee for the Committee on Sustainable Development.

Norma Simon serves as Recording Secretary for the Committee on Ageing. She is also on the Executive Committee of the UN Family Committee and the UN Committee on Mental Health.

Richard Velayo is Treasurer of the UN Committee on Ageing.

Eva Sandis is Chair of the UN Migration Committee.

ICP representative Roswith Roth is chair of the Family Committee in Vienna.

ICP representative Anna Laura Comunion attends the Human Rights Committee in Vienna.

As ICP's main UN representative, I coordinate the team's efforts and I am a very active member on three CoNGO substantive committees. They are the Committee on Ageing, the Family Committee, and the Committee on Mental Health. I serve on the Executive Committee on all three. For the Ageing Executive Committee, I serve as the immediate past chair, following six years as Chair. I'm the treasurer of the Family Committee and the Corresponding Secretary for the Committee on Mental Health. I am a co-convenor for Mental Health's working group on ageing. In addition to the above I continue to serve on the planning committee for Psychology Day and am involved in the organization of the UN's Psychology Coalition. For the latter I was involved in writing the by-laws.

In the spring of 2011 I attended the CoNGO (Conference of NGOs) and was instrumental in getting ICP elected to the CoNGO Board. I now serve on CoNGO's working group on Substantive Committees.

In the next IP I will write about the Psychology Coalition and also introduce ICP's interns to the readers.

WORLD AREA CHAIR—Dr. Sandra E. S. Neil

November, 2011

Area Chairs are appointed for the purpose of promoting the goals of ICP in a specified geographical area. Area Chairs accept responsibility for assisting in the development of ICP activated and policies in a specific country, a group of countries, or regions within a country, with the overall objective of advancing psychology and the application of its scientific findings around the world. We at ICP have the following requirements of area chairs: (adapted from by-laws and administrative procedures)

Recommending to the Convention Scientific Program Chair specific participants, topics, and/or new research material from their region.

Being a Personal Contacts Facilitator for visiting ICP members from other countries and assisting members from their country to make contacts with members in the countries they will be visiting.

Suggesting and proposing regional meetings as possible that are near to convention sites

Submitting pictures and articles about psychologists from their region for use in the IP or on the web.

Publicising ICP activities and conventions in professional and academic newsletters, websites, or other media.

Contacting members in their area twice a year for updates in contact information, conveying conference information, soliciting new members, and gathering questions or suggestions to send on to the RACC and WACC.

Members not responsive to the 3rd dues request are contacted by the Membership Chair and/or Area Chair, or the World Area Chair coordinator.

1. New Memberships and Changes in Membership Status

Area Chairs are ex-officio members of the ICP Membership Committee. They work to promote ICP membership among psychologists in their respective areas and advise the Chair of the Membership Committee on facts related to their respective countries, and the meaning, for example, of various diplomas, licences, degrees or certification commonly used in particular countries. Membership Chair Dr Julia Rose has worked very vigorously this year to develop and facilitate new members, even to the small but important idea of designing a membership card.

2. Membership Maintenance

An Area Chair is informed when a member from his or her area is about to be dropped for non-payment of dues. The Area Chair takes steps to reawaken the member's interest in ICP and renew the members' awareness of the values of membership.

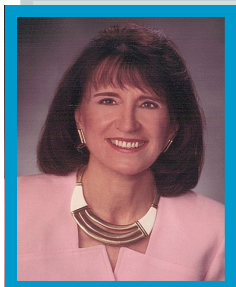

3. Publicity

Area Chairs work to publicise the purposes and activities of ICP, by working through national, state or regional psychological associations and their periodicals, and through personal contacts with psychological colleagues in university, community and employment settings. At conferences of such associations, ICP publications may be displayed and membership information distributed by the Area Chair. The Area Chair may suggest symposia on topics of international interest, which could be presented with ICP co operation.

4. Newsletter Correspondence

Area Chairs communicate with the Editor of ICP's newsletter, the International Psychologist (IP) (currently Dr. Ann Marie O'Roark and Nancy Quatrano) The Area Chairs who have reported are significant in the field of psychology in their areas; forward news of ICP members, their publications, honours, organisations, meetings and other matters of interest; Suggest the types of content that ICP members in their area would like to see in the IP, and provide copy for such listings and articles, and/or suggest appropriate courses or methods for conveying such information or material.

LIAISONS—Dr. Joy Rice, Liaison Coordinator

ICP Liaison

Correspondents Working in 2011

For decades ICP has employed "liaison correspondents" to other international psychological Associations. Our bylaws in Article V .3.2.1 state that liaisons promote "...two way communications between ICP and other psychological, allied, scientific, and academic societies, associations, or organizations." The duties of an ICP Liaison are to promote ICP activities, membership and annual convention in the venues of the other organization and to annually give a brief email report on the activities to the International Liaison Coordinator. We have liaisons to many major organizations, including APA, IUPsyS, IAAP, and the World Federation of Mental Health.

Allied Health Liaisons

In 2011, our board voted to expand the ICP membership opportunity to professionals in allied health like social workers, psychiatric nurses, counselors, occupational and speech therapists, and other professions that work in mental health areas. Thus we would like to add liaisons to such organizations as:

International Federation of Social Workers
International Association of Counselors & Therapists
International Society of Psychiatric-Mental Health Nurses
World Federation of Occupational Therapists

- International Art Therapy Association
- World Federation of Music Therapy

National League for Nursing

International Osteopathic Association
World Confederation for Physical Therapy
American Medical Association
American Speech-Language-Hearing Association

American Physical Therapy Association

Allied Health Professionals Australia

If you are willing to serve as a liaison to other international psychological organizations or to international allied health organizations or have suggestions for people to fill these roles, please let us know. Also if you think there are other organizations that should be on our liaison list, please advise me and our President.

ICP Liaisons and Some Highlights

Current liaisons have been busy this year. Here are just a few of their great activities on behalf of ICP. In his capacity as webmaster for APA Division 52, International Psychology, Dr. Richard Velayo has actively worked to promote the ICP website and our convention to 52 and APA members. Dr. Michael Stevens corresponded with the Deputy Secretary-General of the IUPsyS leading to our program collaboration at the 2012 International Congress of Psychology in Cape Town, South Africa. It promises to be a wonderful convention.

Dr. Sandra Neil, liaison to the Australian Psychological Society again convened the excellent "International Relations and Human Rights World Summit" at the 27th International Congress of Applied Psychology Congress on behalf of the ICP. Dr. Ann O'Roark, Past President of ICP and IAAP Co-Liaison, made a presentation during the Congress about ICP entitled ICP Contributions to Well-Being in the Community of International Psychology Association's Professional Activism Across 70 Years.

Dr. Judith Gibbons was active in disseminating ICP news and activities to the members of SCCR (Society for Cross-Cultural Research) and Interamerican Society of Psychology (SIP). Dr. Tara Pir is the ICP Liaison to IAACP and our new President Elect. She promoted ICP at the 2011 Western Psychological Association meetings, Psychology Day at the United Nations in New York and at the 2011 UN DPI/NGO Conference in Bonn, Germany. Finally representing ICP for the World Federation for Mental Health (WFMH), in 2011 signed ICP on to support the important WFMH International Initiative on Non-Communicable Diseases.

Please email me if you would like to serve as an ICP Liaison Correspondent at <jkrice@wisc.edu>

Caribbean Regional Conference of Psychology 2011

Justina E. Aire PhD
Counseling Psychologist
Dipomate Clinician
Director, Psychology Program
Assistant Dean
School of Arts and Sciences
St George's University - GRENADA - West Indies
Director-at-Large, International Council of Psychologists (ICP) (www.icpweb.org)

The 2011 Caribbean Regional Conference of Psychology (CRCP 2011) has come and gone! It was a historic event being the first of its kind held in the Caribbean Region.

It was proficiently hosted by the Bahamas Psychological Association (BPA), with the support of the International Union of Psychological Science (IUPsyS), the collaboration of the International Association of Applied Psychology (IAAP) and the International Association for Cross Cultural Psychology (IACCP). CRCP 2011 was organized to promote the growth of psychology in the Caribbean, strengthen regional bonds and national organizations, and support the increased visibility of Psychology in the Caribbean engagement with the global psychological community. The conference theme, "Psychological Science & Well-Being: Building Bridges for Tomorrow," reflects an appreciation for psychological science as a critical instrument for building bridges across time, disciplines, regions, research areas, and communities; through policy, advocacy, education, publication, and teaching; and for change, development and empowerment of individuals and communities. The conference was a celebration of contributions of legends as well as current psychologists in the Caribbean.

The Caribbean Region is made up of no fewer than thirty (30) islands including:

Anguilla, Antigua & Barbuda, Aruba, The Bahamas, Barbados, Belize, Bermuda, British Virgin Islands, Cayman Islands, Cuba, Dominica, Dominican Republic, Grenada, Guadeloupe, Guyana, Haiti, Jamaica, Martinique, Montserrat, Netherlands Antilles, Puerto Rico, St. Kitts & Nevis, St. Lucia, St. Vincent and the Grenadines, Suriname, Trinidad & Tobago, Turks & Caicos Islands, U.S. Virgin Islands

A Regional Advisory Committee consisting of Psychologists from above countries in the region was instituted and I had the honor of being selected to represent Grenada on the board.

The Conference Venue was the Wyndham Nassau Resort, Bahamas

The Conference included workshops, a keynote address, plenary sessions, paper, poster and roundtable discussion sessions in a conference setting at the edge of the sea. In open, common space, the conference sponsored a "global village" with informational displays, local crafts, and ample space for discussion and connecting.

The highlights of the conference included: A forum for the Presidents of Psychological Associations in the region, and the Chairs/ Program Directors of Psychology to discuss the strengths and challenges to psychology in the region.

The conference language was English, but abstracts submitted in Dutch, French, Haitian Kreyol, and Spanish were also accepted.

Drs Michael and Beverly Stevens and I being at the conference provided good representation for ICP. We also jointly presented a paper titled; Grenada: National Emotional Climate and Societal Values. After which we had a tour of the city of Nassau, Bahamas.

Traditional Dances from The Bahamas:

Participants at the conference were treated to Cultural Events including; Entertainment and dancing

The International Congress of Psychology, held every four years under the auspices of the International Union of Psychological Science, is the flagship event in international psychology. The previous 29th ICP was held in Berlin in July 2008 and attracted some 11,000 abstract submissions and over 10,000 delegates. The 30th International Congress of Psychology is the first to be held in Africa, and is organised by the National Research Foundation of South Africa and the Psychological Society of South Africa, in partnership with key South African universities and national government departments.

Organised around the theme Psychology Serving Humanity, the congress will highlight how psychology translates its science and practice into the knowledge, skills and tools that are able to underpin the human condition. Besides Invited Addresses and Symposia by global leaders in their fields, there will be scintillating State of the Science Lectures and Controversial Debates on topics of current interest, and exhibitions by leading publishing houses, technological innovators and international psychology organisations. Special activities will include an exciting Emerging Psychologists' Programme, Advanced Research Training Seminars for psychologists from the developing world,

ICP AREA CHAIR REPORTS—EXCERPTS 2011

Professor Mark G. Borg MALTA CHAIR

Area Chair Report, Mark Borg, Malta, 2010-2011

Psychology in Malta is increasingly assuming an important role in Maltese society. Over the past year we have witnessed the continued popularization of psychology. Increasing numbers of clients are seeking the help of psychologists in different specializations. The number of warranted psychologists is on the increase as more and more students are embarking on their professional training either abroad (e.g. the UK and USA) or locally. At present 15 psychology trainees are pursuing their studies in one of the areas clinical, counseling and education at the University of Malta. This is possible due to the third run of the Master of Psychology programme which I was instrumental in organizing in my role as Head of the Department of Psychology in 1998. I still occupy the position of Vice-President of the Malta Union of Professional Psychologists, of which I am one of its founding members. I am also part of the Union's negotiating team which is currently negotiating with the Maltese government the new collective agreement for psychologists employed in the public sector.

As in past years, during 2010 I participated in several TV and radio programmes on such topics as school bullying and the test anxiety.

I have managed to keep in regular contact with members of the profession and to meet regularly on social or professional activities.

ICP AREA CHAIR REPORTS—EXCERPTS 2011

Area Chair Report, Roswith Roth Austria, 2010-2011

Together with Noach Milgram and Ann Marie O'Roark we edited the Mexico Proceedings. I finished the formatting and sent it to the Publisher. It will be out very soon and all contributors will get a copy from the publisher directly. If you'd like to cite it: Milgram, N., O'Roark, A.M. & Roth, R. (2011). Scientific Psychology: New Developments Internationally. Proceedings of the 67th Annual Convention International Council of Psychologists, July 3-8, 2009, Mexico City, Mexico, Aachen, Germany: Shaker Verlag.

Last year in November I was elected as Chair of the NGO Committee on the Family at the UN in Vienna. It was possible to invite two members of ICP to our meetings. In May 2010 Eva Sandis came to one of our meetings and held a speech about "Global Mothers and the Caregiving Vacuum". In November 2010 Tata Pir gave a presentation "Family Violence Defies Basic Human Rights". This year we planned to invite Sandra Neil to our May meeting, to our regrets she had another appointment at this date at the UN in New York, invited by Florence Denmark.

ICP LIAISON BOARD REPORTS—EXCERPTS 2011

Michael Stevens, Ph.D.

ICP Liaison to: IUPsyS, International Union of Psychological Sciences

Current & Future Activities: Periodically exchanged organizational information with the Deputy Secretary-General of the IUPsyS concerning activities and developments in the ICP. There are promising opportunities for expanded and new collaboration with the IUPsyS at the 2012 International Congress of Psychology in Cape Town, South Africa.

News from the Liaison Organization: Bahamas and Guatemala were admitted as new IUPsyS national members. The European Association of Counseling Psychology (EACP) and Society for Research in Child Development (SRCD) are new organizational affiliates to the IUPsyS.

Richard S. Velayo, Ph.D.

ICP Liaison to: APA Division 52 (Division of International Psychology)

Current & Future Activities: I continue to be ICP's liaison to APA Division 52. In my capacity as webmaster for APA Division 52 (International Psychology), I included announcements and events related to the 2010 ICP Convention (Chicago), as well as for the upcoming 2011 ICP Convention (Washington, DC) via the Division 52 listserv announcements. I continue to promote the ICP website (www.ICPweb.org) which contains announcements and resources that may be of interest to both ICP and Division 52 members, including the ICP's newsletter, "International Psychologist." I plan to continue promoting activities between members of both organizations and to encourage membership in both, such as posting announcements of selected ICP events on the Division 52 announcement webpage (www.rvelayo.com/Div52Announcements)

Anna Laura Comunian, Ph.D.

ICP Liaison to: Federation of National Psychologists Associations in Europe

Current and Future Activities: The European Federation of Psychologists' Associations (EFPA) is the leading Federation of National Psychologists Associations in Europe. It provides a forum for European cooperation in a wide range of fields of academic training, psychology practice and research. EFPA is a platform for European co-operation between national Psychologists Associations from all over Europe. EFPA's Member Associations are in 35 countries and have over 300.000 individual members. The biennial European Congress of Psychology is organised under the auspices of EFPA.

MESSAGE FROM THE TREASURER—Gifts to 501(c) 3 organizations

Gerald L. Gamache, PhD, USA

June 29, 2011

From: Dr. Jerry Gamache, ICP Treasurer

To: ICP Board of Directors

Subj: Gifts to 501(c)3

Background: ICP operates as a IRS designated 501 (c)3 tax exempt organization which means ICP does not pay federal income on revenue earned. Such designation allows dues or registration at ICP conventions to be tax deductible for the membership. However, ICP has no guidelines for accepting contributions or donations.

IRS Guidelines: The IRS guidelines are contained in the 2010 Individual Tax Return Form 1040 Instructions, paragraph 615, lines 16 – 19.

"The following are deductible as charitable contributions in money or property (but not the value of your time or services) to domestic organizations operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes or the prevention of cruelty to children or animals; domestic fraternal organizations if the gifts are to be used exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, etc., purposes; veterans' posts and organization; federal, state, or local governments if the gift is made exclusively for public purposes; qualified private organizations engaged in fostering natural beauty; or nonprofit cemetery and burial companies.

For the taxpayer seeking deductions:

Unreimbursed expenses incurred in performing services for a charitable or governmental organization may also be deductible. This includes the cost of special uniforms, auto, travel expenses, and other actual expenses in doing volunteer work for a qualified organization. A taxpayer who uses his auto in performing services for a charity can deduct either his actual out-of-pocket expenses for oil, gas, etc., or a flat 14 cents a mile. Add parking and tolls to the amount you claim under either method. But do not deduct and amount that were repaid to the taxpayer.

Travel expenses, such as for transportation, meals, and lodging, incurred when a taxpayer is away from home performing services for a charitable organization are deductible, provided that there is no significant element of personal pleasure, recreation, or vacation in the travel. However, the fact that the taxpayer enjoys the service to the charitable organization, such as where a troop leader takes a youth group on a camping trip, will not cause the deduction to be denied."

Discussion: ICP should adapt a policy regarding gifts or donation.

Suggestion: ICP, when approached by a contributor contemplating a gift or donation, should request a specific purpose for that gift or donation, which could be either a gift or donation to the general fund or a specific project. When accepted, a letter acknowledging the gift or donation shall be written by the President, or at the Presidents' discretion, the Treasurer.

FOR CONTRIBUTIONS TO SPONSOR THE ICP ANNUAL CONFERENCE, SEND PROPOSALS TO THE PRESIDENT, TREASURER, AND COORDINATING CONFERENCE CHAIR. INCLUDE:

1. Name of the organization and officers. Address and contact information
2. What aspect of the conference is to be supported: reception, program book, agenda book, conference bags, breaks, etc.
3. The logo for the organization.

New APS Publication: Global Observer

The Association for Psychological Science (APS) has recently started an internationally-focused monthly online publication called the Global Observer as part of a broader international effort to bridge geographic and scientific boundaries within our field and between psychological science and other disciplines.
