PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

The Culture of Mental Health: Stigma Elimination Campaign (Moving from Understanding to Action)

Tara Pir, Ph.D.
USA

"Culture" is defined as the set of core values and beliefs of a group demonstrated as a common way of thinking and doing, which is evolving, dynamic, and ever changing. Reviewing the mental health profession in the context of its culture shows many evolving, dynamic and radical changes over time. However, one single factor that has remained unchanged is the commitment to our client/patient, the target population we serve.

Connecting with our clients requires outreach and engagement, similar to the strategic marketing used by any other business or profession. Research and surveys indicate that mental health professionals around the world, with their best culturally responsive and sensitive outreach plan and activities, have identified and reported stigma as a major barrier toward mental health. Stigma has been known as a major visible and invisible obstacle in identifying and accessing mental health services. Even in the United States, where one in four is living with mental illness, many will not seek help due to fear of stigma and discrimination.

This very major barrier/problem will not go away in general through wishful thinking or appealing for spiritual intervention through prayer, or to politicians in a top-down approach. Instead, it requires our own effective advocacy through grassroots-up strategy, including survey and research to, first, identify the scope and depth of the problem, especially in the context of culture; then, develop specific informational and educational plans through the possibility of media, e.g., public service announcements (PSA) and public education seminars to address the issue appropriately in each cultural domain; and, finally, to develop new policies and regulations or request changes or revisions to current ones and present them to local representatives and local governments.

In Order To Move To Action

I developed a Stigma and Discrimination Elimination Program in my role as President of both Institute for Multicultural Counseling and Education Services (IMCES), and International Council of Psychologists (ICP) to work to end stigma and discrimination associated with mental illness at both the local and global level. IMCES is a community clinic that provides direct service to the underserved in our community in Los Angeles County and also provides the highest standard clinical training program accredited by the APA. IMCES is a non-profit organization associated with DPI/NGO of the United Nations for Human Rights.

ICP is an international professional organization committed to furthering world peace, promoting human rights, and promoting collaboration among mental health professionals and social scientists, globally.

We made a commitment to ending stigma associated with mental illness. I would like to invite you, from anywhere in the world to join our effort to eliminate stigma by participating in the following activities and providing the status report on the completion of the task. Our goal is to publish the results of this campaign in a professional journal, present it at international conferences, and submit it to the United Nations and the WHO.

Participate in our Cultural Stigma Survey, which can be found at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/IMCESSTIGMAREV>. I also encourage you to create a day of outreach activity of public education conference or seminar where you and participants can wear the green ribbon, generating conversation to raise awareness regarding stigma and discrimination elimination. Lime-green is the national color of mental health awareness symbolic of vigorous life and flourishing health, representing our efforts to overcome the stereotype, stigma and discrimination associated with mental illness.

Together we can make a difference in changing lives, changing minds, changing communities.

PAST PRESIDENT REPORT

Ludwig F. Lowenstein, Ph.D.
U.K.

LOOKING FORWARD TO PARIS AND IMPROVING THE WORLD

The conference in Paris has now been determined and it has been recommended by the Past President that most of the delegates if possible should stay in the same hotel to attend the conference not far away. The hotel is the Paris Etoile Hotel. This would make it easier for us to socialise and to enjoy Paris together.

Things initially moved slowly in preparing for the conference but are now increasing in pace as all active members are preparing for the IAAP conference on the 8-13th July 2014. I and Kathleen will be arriving earlier to take in some of the sights of Paris including visiting Versailles.

ICP it is hoped, has gathered members during the last year, especially after the meeting in Indonesia, and I hope that these members will also attend the conference in Paris.

One cannot help but be influenced by the news around the World of conflicts, and most recently in the Ukraine and the suffering of people caught up in the middle of fighting for their democratic rights. The challenge to psychologists cannot be greater than it is now, attempting to do what we can to improve the World and the strife which currently exists in Syria and other parts of the World.

As a former member of the American military, I grieve for the men and women who have suffered physically as well as psychologically due to their experiences in Afghanistan and Iraq. I also grieve for the parents and families of those soldiers who will never come back. Psychologists today and in the future will have a great job to do to reduce world conflicts and to provide harmony between religions, nations and cultures. Throwing one's hands up in despair is not helpful! We need to find ways of using our psychological knowledge to persuade the leadership of those in conflict to find a better way of solving their problems than through killings and fighting.

Another matter which has also impressed me in recent days is the need to do much more for those countries and cultures that suffer from homophobia. One African leader said in an interview on television that homosexual people are disgusting people carrying on disgusting acts. He further went on to say that such behaviour must have been learned and that it is not of genetic origin to be 'gay'.

I am currently working on some research to indicate how homosexuality is in fact determined very early in life by genetic make-up or early experiences in utero. Perhaps we can make it clear to homophobes that homosexuals are not people who are evil and have learned to be evil, but rather that they have certain traits that have a biological or genetic predisposition.

At present what is lacking in the world is tolerance and understanding. Psychologists everywhere should ask themselves what they can do to improve the situation worldwide to reduce the conflicts that continue unabated despite the tremendous loss of life and suffering.

My fellow psychologists, I am certain that you are also affected by all these events and wish to do more to alleviate the suffering that is occurring worldwide, and yet find yourself feeling helpless in how to achieve this.

It is my view that there are things that can be done and most especially influencing the world leaders to change their attitudes and behaviour to be more compassionate and tolerant of those that differ from themselves. The leadership can encourage this in the people they govern. Psychologists can perhaps do more to influence that leadership in a positive and constructive direction. As an international organisation we can perhaps do more than organisations that are nationality based.

Despite everything, I remain optimistic in the future and I hope you will be similarly inclined. We look forward to meeting one another in Paris as we have met so often around the world in the past. Perhaps we will see what we can do to improve the world to make it a better place than it is today.

Yours in friendship,

Ludwig Lowenstein

PRESIDENT ELECT REPORT

Janet Sigal, Ph.D

PARIS IN JULY

I'm excited and delighted to tell you some of the details of our 72rd Annual ICP Inc. Convention which is going to be held in Paris, France this year!

The dates are July 13-15, 2014 at the Hyatt Regency, following the IAAP convention being held in the same location.

I've heard from many of our members regarding their intentions to join us for this wonderful gathering of minds and spirits and I'm looking forward to seeing the faces of friends from around the world.

Our secure on-line banking system is ready to take dues and registration payments, so don't hesitate to reserve your place for the conference at the website which is www.ICPWEB.ORG. And thanks to the support of President Pir's organization IMCES, our website is being updated with all the latest information, newsletters and International Understanding publications. We are grateful for this much-needed assistance in such a Internet-based world.

As the Scientific Programs Chair for this convention, I request that you submit no later than May 15, 2014. The THIRD call for proposals is on page 7, but to recap, please send to janet2822@aol.com and include the title, which should not exceed 10 words, the organizer name, city and country and contact information. The abstract should be no more than 300 words and please indicate any audio-visual needs. The submissions may be on any professional topic consistent with the purpose of ICP, Inc. See the proposal on page 7 for all the detailed information regarding these submissions.

I'd like to add that interdisciplinary proposals are encouraged. And, I could use the help of a scientific program committee. If you are interested in helping me with reviewing the proposals, please let me know. I can use the help as in retirement, I don't have the resources of a staff.

Please let me know if you have any questions regarding the convention or the proposals. I can be reached at janet2822@aol.com.

I look forward to seeing you in Paris.

Best wishes,

Janet Sigal

BOARD SECRETARY REPORT

Cecilia Cheng, Ph.D
CHINA

The ICP board is currently discussing the proposal of a possible change in the ICP membership fee schedule. This proposal is initiated to encourage more professionals to join the ICP as members as well as to promote greater involvement in the ICP and other professional organizations in the United States and worldwide. A membership vote will be called for after the proposal has been finalized, and the voting results will be announced once a decision has been made.

The global call for ICP award nominations is now open: The Frances Mullen Award for recognizing the distinguished contributions and service of an ICP member, the Seisoh Sukemune/Bruce Bain Award for recognizing the outstanding research achievement of an early-career psychologist, the Fukuhara Advanced International Psychology Research and Service Award for recognizing the distinguished contributions of a mid-career or senior-level psychologist to international psychology, and the Denmark-Grunwald Award for recognizing outstanding research and service to feminist research. Spread the word among your colleagues and nominate your favorite scholar(s) for any of these ICP awards. More details can be found in the ICP newsletter, or email me if you need further information.

Last but not least, the ICP's big event of the year—the 72nd Annual ICP Inc. Conference 2014—will be held in Paris from July 13 to July 15. The conference organizing committee, chaired by President-Elect Dr. Janet Sigal, has been busily preparing for the conference program schedule and locating potential venues for hosting the event. Upon evaluation of various proposals, the conference organizing committee has just put forward their recommendations for the conference venue. The ICP board members will cast their votes and announcement will be made in due course.

The dates of the upcoming ICP, Inc. conference are close to those of several other major professional events to be held in France (such as 28th International Congress of Applied Psychology, Paris, July 8-13; 22nd International Congress of the International Association for Cross-Cultural Psychology, Reims, July 15-19) and other nearby areas (such as 17th General Meeting of the European Association of Social Psychology, Amsterdam, July 9-12). A golden chance to attend several conferences and to interact with professionals from various realms of psychology within a single trip!

Hope to see you in Paris this summer!

TREASURER REPORT

Dr. Ani Kalayjian
USA

My deep condolences to all for the loss of our former Treasurer Dr. Gerald Gamache. My deep gratitude to Nancy Quatrano and Dr. Ann Marie O'Roark for assisting in the vital transition process. I have been appointed to serve as the new Treasurer.

As you are aware there was a challenge to find a suitable candidate. It is my commitment to do the best in my ability to assist our beloved ICP through this transition. It is an honor to work with our Board as well as our President Dr. Tara Pir and all the other board members.

As Dr. Gamache pointed out often, we run our organization on the income from membership dues for the most part. Until the motion to restructure our dues program has gone through all the proper committees and votes, the 2014 dues will remain unchanged. I urge you to pay by PayPal at the website: www.ICPweb.Org.

If unable to do so, kindly mail your check, made out to ICP, to: Ms. Nancy Quatrano at 4625 Cedar Ford Blvd., Hastings, Florida 32145 USA. She will send a receipt email and forward your application information to Dr. Pir. You may also copy me at DrKalayjian@Meaningfulworld.com.

If you have any budget related reports or requests, kindly forward those to me and copy to our President. I wanted to share that a modest budget for the 2014 annual conference has just been approved and the conference arrangements are being contracted this week. Our 72nd Annual ICP Conference will take place in Paris, France July 13-14-15. Registration will be separated from the IAAP registration fee and are the same as last year. See the registration form included in this IP edition on page

All of our financial records were mailed to Nancy from Canada and that will permit attention to IRS tax forms and incorporation reports to be constructed and submitted in a timely fashion. Also, the payment to our affiliate associations will continue on time.

Once again, a big heart felt gratitude to Nancy and Anne Marie. I hope to see everyone in New York and Paris.

EDITOR REPORT

St. Augustine, Florida. March 1, 2014.

Fifty-four years is a commendable life-span for an association newsletter. The 2014 volume of ICP, Inc.'s International Psychologist [IP] focuses Issue Number 1 on information about the 2014 annual meeting of the board and association in Paris France, 13, 14 and 15 July; information about the 2014 Spring election – this year for two Board Directors at Large; calls for nominations for the 2014 ICP, Inc. Awards for Distinguished Contributions to International Psychology and ICP, Contributions to Feminist Research and Service, Outstanding Early Career Research in International Psychology, Advanced Research in International Psychology, and for InAbsentia Graduate Student Poster Presentations at the Annual Conference.

Details of plans for 2014 association activities have been slowed down as administrative realignments required most of the fall months following former Treasurer Dr. Gamache's death followed by resignation of the elected Treasurer. The second nominee on the 2013 Spring Ballot, Dr. Ani Kalajian, accepted the responsibility and a contract for Banking and Records Management was negotiated with Ms. Nancy Quatrano, who served ICP, Inc. as conference registrar, newsletter publisher and voting records management during the past five years. Details usually reported in this first issue that are not available in time for publication will be disseminated to the full membership list in separate email documents.

Three sections comprise ICP, Inc.'s newsletter. IP Part A. Section One includes: Officers' columns, Appointed Chairs and Leaders reports, and scientific program information. Section Two carries news about members and international association activities. Section

Three presents administrative material such as: "calls" for awards, nominations, dues, registrations, membership applications and governance guidelines.

IP Part B, International Understanding, is named for the first ICP, Inc. publication which included articles and papers presented by association members. Longer articles, research papers and professional issues discussions, are invited for inclusion in IU. An editorial panel reviews all content of the newsletter and website to assure consistency with standards of professional writing and with ICP, Inc. Bylaws and Board Rules, extant policies and ethical statements.

Please note on your calendars that the requested date for articles for the next IP is May 15. The overview of the annual scientific program and information about elections are scheduled as features. Notices about recent publications, addresses given at conferences and awards received by members are especially invited.

In Memorium. Former Membership Chair Barbara Aalto, Auburndale, MA, USA. 2013.

NOTE'BENE. Parisian Dr. LISETTE FANCHON, PRESIDENT, ICP, Inc. 1978-1979, was the first president elected who was not from the USA. She served as Professor in the University of Paris and also Director of the Wechsler Laboratories, where Dr. David Wechsler (1896-1982) won a fellowship in 1920 to study physiological changes related to emotion with researchers Henri Pieron and Louis Lapque. Born in Romania, he received his Ph.D. from Columbia University, NYC. [See more in IP54.1B: INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING.]

Hope to see you in Paris in July.

Former President

Dear Friends:

Dinesh Sharma and I would like to make you aware of our new book: The Global Obama: Crossroads of Leadership in the 21st Century. It features two dozen essays written by an international group of experts that examine the president's image around the world and discuss his global leadership.

For more information please consult the attached flyers.

With our best wishes for a happy and productive 2014,

Uwe P. Gielen and Dinesh Sharma

Persons who stood at the origins of the new Psi Chi Chapter: Alex Voronov, Irina Novikova, Elena Chebotareva, Alexey Novikov, Harold Takooshian (near PFUR flag and banner).

October 11, 2013, the first chapter of Psi Chi—the world's largest honor society, was installed in Russia at Peoples' Friendship University of Russia (PFUR) in Moscow. Over 100 faculty and students participated in the ceremony.

As of 2013, only 12 of 1,100 Psi Chi chapters are outside the United States, so it is symbolic that the first chapter in East Europe was opened at PFUR—the largest multinational university in Russia, educating 20,000 students from 140 countries.

"As I return home in December from a 4-month Fulbright in the Russian Federation in fall of 2013, I look forward to preparing a detailed overview of collaborations with Russian psychologists, for a future issue of our APA International Psychology Bulletin. Meanwhile, here are two quick items of good news about Russian-American cooperation: (1) U.S. psychology groups clearly want to cooperate with Russian colleagues and students. (2) These Russians clearly want to cooperate with U.S.

Before my departure in August of 2013, Psi Chi and four other U.S. psychology groups kindly offered gracious invitations to Russians—who have reciprocated with great gusto—as can be seen in these dynamic images of psychology across Russia. Grant Rich a recent member of ICP, Inc. is moving from Juneau, Alaska to Cambodia, where he is Associate Professor at the American University of Phnom Penh. His interests in cross-cultural and international psychology were shaped while a graduate student in the University of Chicago's interdisciplinary Human Development psychology program. Dr. Rich's research interests utilize mixed methods to explore aspects of international positive psychology. Grant has published on teaching positive psychology, on cultural issues in assessing optimal experience, and on developing methods for examining human strengths and virtues around the globe. These interests also focus on positive health psychology, particularly complementary and alternative medicine, with recent work in publications based in Greece, Russia, UK, and the US. Grant serves as Editor of the APA Division 52's quarterly International Psychology Bulletin (an open access publication featuring research and other relevant articles). He is co-editor of an upcoming book (with Uwe Gielen) about pioneers of psychology (featuring chapters by and about international psychologists). A music lover, he's excited to begin exploring the thriving metropolis of Phnom Penh, especially their local live music scene.

Call for Nominations for the Henry David International Mentoring Award

Henry P. David, PhD (1923-Dec. 31, 2009) was the first male to serve as President of the International Council of Psychologists, Inc. (1967-1969). "Henry was generous with gentle encouragement and financial contributions in periods of economic downturns for ICP.

In later years, Henry David's face always lit up when he saw a fellow ICP member, and with his lovely wife Tema at his side he crossed busy streets and crowded social gatherings to give personal greetings and inquire about events in the life of the association and common friends. He epitomized the wise saying of thinking globally and acting locally, and demonstrated with grace the ICP cornerstone value for inclusiveness and person-to-person connections" (O'Roark, A.M., 2010, Psychology International). In 2001 David was awarded one of the highest awards in psychology, the American Psychological Foundation Gold Metal award.

He was a founding member of Division 52 and a significant contributor to international psychology. In honor of his contributions, Division 52 established the Henry David International Mentoring Award.

The recipient of this prestigious award will be honored at the 2014 APA Convention in Washington, D.C. Nominations, including self-nominations, are welcomed. The Division 52 Henry David International Mentoring Award is presented annually to a member or affiliate of Division 52, who plays an exceptional mentoring role in an international context.

ICOPE 6th INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON PSYCHOLOGY EDUCATION AUGUST 3—5, 2014

From Prof. Sherri McCarthy, PhD, University of Northern Arizona, USA

Dear All—

In case you are not aware, I wanted to let you know that ICOPE will be meeting in the USA this summer at my university in Arizona. We are accepting poster submissions, and I truly hope you will help me to spread the word among your students and colleagues, and that you will plan to submit a presentation about teaching psychology and attend yourselves. As usual, we plan to publish a book afterwards including some of the proceedings, as well. Please go to www.nau.edu for information. Once there, type ICOPE6 into the search ribbon for the information. If it would be helpful for you to secure funding, please let me know and I will be glad to send you an official letter of invitation to be a part of a keynote panel. Let me know if you have any questions. Looking forward to seeing many of you this summer.

Regards,
Dr. Sherri McCarthy, Ph.D

APRIL DEADLINE. CALL FOR PROPOSALS:

2015 National Multicultural Conference and Summit

The 2015 National Multicultural Conference and Summit will be an exciting and innovative summit root-ed in the values of our founders. As multicultural psychologists, we embrace diversity, and reflect on the intersections of oppression and privilege. NMCS 2015 welcomes educators, policy makers, researchers and clinicians to reflect on what we have accomplished and consider where we need to go. In the spirit of Sankofa, we will look back to move forward.

Proposals will be accepted for the following program formats:

SYMPOSIA (CE eligible) are 50 minute or one hour and 50 minute sessions in which no more than four people may present.. Symposia must have a clear coherent theme and one that ideally fits with the theme of the conference. Ideally, symposia will include a range of 3-4 speakers and a discussant who reflect unique perspectives.

SKILL-BUILDING WORKSHOPS (CE eligible) are 1 hour and 50 minute sessions designed to provide participants with practical experience and specific skills. While submissions are encouraged that represent the conference theme, submissions on ethics, research methodology, professional development and skill building in academic, policy or clinical domains are also encouraged.

Submissions must include the following:

- ◆ Summary of workshop (purpose and structure of workshop) • Teaching strategies • Relevant expertise of presenter(s) • Target audience (please include relevance of workshop to individuals from disciplines other than multicultural psychology, if applicable)
- ◆ Authors should also indicate ideal number of attendees in mind for the workshop. Please specify if there is a need to limit the session to a certain number of participants and provide a rationale. • Learning objectives (not included in word count; See instructions below in general guidelines)

ROUNDTABLE DISCUSSIONS are 1 hour and 50 minute sessions which provide an opportunity to have open dialogue related to the conference theme (e.g. diversity, social justice). discussions for one particular general theme. Formal papers should be considered for symposia; skill-building workshops will focus on practical STUDENT POSTER PRESENTATIONS are opportunities for students in psychology and education to present their recent scholarships during an hour-long poster session.

PROFESSIONAL POSTER PRESENTATIONS are opportunities for professionals in psychology and education to present their recent scholarships during an hour-long poster session.

Options for submission: All abstract submissions will be peer reviewed and may be submitted as an oral presentation (paper, symposium, workshop) or a poster presentation. Authors may opt for their submission to be considered as “poster only”, “paper only” (for symposia submissions), “paper or poster” (for individual or symposia submissions), or “workshop”.

Human Rights, Environmental Sustainability, Post-2015 Development, and the Future Climate Regime

Co-editors: Susan S. Chuang & Michael Ungar

Springer invites manuscripts for an edited volume on resilience and families. The goal of the edited volume is to comprehensively explore the many ways different populations of immigrants cope as they transition between cultures and contexts. The volume will include investigations of both the homogeneity (sameness) between immigrants from different backgrounds around the world, as well as heterogeneity (differences) in the culturally specific ways people cope. The volume seeks to understand the interaction between the risk factors immigrants encounter and the processes they use to not only survive change but also to thrive in new contexts. Examining across the lifespan (e.g., children, adolescents and young adults, couples and families with children, and elderly immigrants), the volume will explore both what is known about both adaptive and maladaptive coping when psychosocial resources are strained, as well as the implications of people's ways of coping to interventions and policies that shape the lived experiences of immigrants. Issues on effective coping during times of transition, as well as the interaction between risks and resilience (i.e., under threat to one's cultural heritage, individuals choosing not to acculturate as a way of protecting their mental health) are also of interest. This edited volume will compile a series of papers that delineates the field of resilience and immigration from a multi-disciplinary perspective which includes theory, research, and social policy. Thus, papers that will contribute to this endeavour are encouraged.

Parenting and Parent-Child Relationships in Immigrant Families From Various Countries

Co-editors: Susan S. Chuang, Catherine Costigan, & Uwe Gielen

Springer invites manuscripts for an edited volume on parenting and immigrant families. Although “parenting” and “parent-child relationships” have long been key areas of child and family research, our understanding of parenting among ethnic and racial minorities on a global front has lagged behind. As researchers broaden our understanding of family relations and the influence on child development, many argue that human functioning cannot be separated from the cultural and immediate context in which children develop. Recently, scholars are reporting that certain aspects of positive parenting are relevant for some groups but not for others and/or that meanings attached to the constructs differ. As we explore immigrant families across various ethnicities, we will focus on relevant issues surrounding positive child development, parent-child relationships, and other factors that affect the dynamics of the family context. As researchers have explored these areas, conceptual frameworks and methodological strategies have been “reconfigured” to address the cultural relevance and nuances within immigrant families.

Our ultimate goal is to have a balanced view of family dynamics and parent-child relationships among immigrant families across the world. Compiling chapters from prominent researchers in various fields (psychology, social work, education, sociology) will provide readers with a richer understanding of the complexities of studying immigration and families. The chapters will discuss various innovative methodological strategies used to capture the cultural nuances within and among immigrant families.

The editors of this volume are Susan S. Chuang (schiang@uoguelph.ca), Catherine Costigan (costigan@uvic.ca), and Uwe Gielen (ugielen@sfc.edu). The editors welcome inquiries and consultations for interested scholars about potential topics and formats of submissions.

There will be two submission stages: 1) a general statement of interest with a title and 500 word submission will be due May 1, 2014 and submitted to Susan Chuang; and 2) selected papers will be decided by July 15, 2014 and the authors will be invited to submit their papers. Final papers will be due January 1, 2015. The papers should be 25 – 30 pages in length, including tables, figures, and references.

SEPTEMBER

3rd UNITAR-Yale Conference on Environmental Governance and Democracy

Yale University, September 5-7 2014

Announcement and Call for Abstracts

The 2014 Conference on Human Rights, Environmental Sustainability, Post-2015 Development, and the Future Climate Regime will take place from 5-7 September 2014 at Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut. The Conference is organized by Yale and the United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR), in collaboration with the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), the World Resources Institute (WRI), and the UN Independent Expert on Human Rights and the Environment, as well as other interested partners. It will bring together more than 150 scholars and policy experts to discuss state-of-the-art knowledge concerning the following themes at the nexus of human rights and the environment:

The Conference will feature a combination of policy discussions in plenary and parallel sessions to discuss contributions and topics in more depth. The organizers invite policy experts, scholars, and practitioners to submit abstracts for three types of papers:

Details concerning the Conference are included in the Information Note. Individuals interested in participating in, and receiving more information about the Conference are requested to complete an Expression of Interest form.

Abstract submissions are closed (April 1.)

OCTOBER

6th On New Shores Conference 2014.

Toronto, Ontario October 16 – 17, 2014

The goal of this conference is to bring together various stakeholders (researchers, community and governmental providers) to collectively examine and discuss issues of children, youth, and families in the context of culture and immigration. Whether individuals and families are new to a country and/or belong to a visible minority group, they share many experiences and challenges. What lessons can be shared? How can we synergize our efforts to develop more culturally sensitive and culturally appropriate research strategies or programs and services in our respective communities? Discussions of organizational stresses and the strategies used to deal with these issues will also be addressed. Researchers from various disciplines (e.g., psychology, sociology, social work, education) are welcomed. Community service providers and governmental agencies are encouraged to present work on research, effective programs, social issues, and challenges. It's time to come together and reap the benefits of each others' work!

Presentation options: paper, discussion hour, roundtable, and poster. For information, contact:

Dr. Susan S. Chuang, University of Guelph.

CALL FOR AWARD NOMINATIONS

Encouragement of Early Career Research Award Seisoh Sukemune/Bruce Bain 2013-2014

Submission Deadline: May 1, 2014

Purpose

The Award for Research in International Psychology recognizes outstanding early career contributions to scholarly endeavors addressing psychological issues of a universal or multinational significance. It is designed to encourage research that systematically addresses the psychological dimensions affecting the quality of human life, and to enhance and reinforce the mission and goals of ICP (<http://www.icpweb.org/>). For the purpose of this award, "research" is broadly defined to include all paradigms of scholarly endeavor, such as laboratory experiments, field experiments, field studies, correlation and evaluation studies, historical studies and case histories. The recipient is expected to present an address at the ICP annual convention that relates to his/her research.

Criteria for eligibility

The recipient must be a psychologist (including a student).

Paper selection criteria

The paper's logic, its purpose, its methodology, its universal or multinational significance, contribution to the development of international psychology, and contribution to the development of human well-being. The recipient must be the first or sole author of the paper; her/his contribution must be greater than 50%.

Submission procedure & requirements

Candidates from all over the world are invited to submit a paper and a cover letter by e-mail (to cecicheng@hku.hk) to Prof. Cecilia Cheng, Chair of the ICP Research Awards Committee, not later than May 1, 2014 (date of email or postal delivery).

NOTICE OF SELECTION: JUNE 1, 2014

Prof. Cecilia Cheng

Chair of the ICP Research Awards Committee
Department of Psychology
The University of Hong Kong
Pokfulam Road
Hong Kong

Paper and application must meet the following requirements:

1. The research must be based primarily on the candidate's own work, and must be considered distinguished. The candidate must be the first or sole author of the paper. Her/his contribution to the paper must be greater than 50%.
2. The paper must not have been published elsewhere, but may be based on the applicant's unpublished bachelor, master, diploma or dissertation research.
3. The paper must be prepared in the style and format specified for journal articles by APA (Publication Manual).
4. The length of the paper is limited to 25 typed, double-spaced pages (maximum), including abstract, references, figures and tables.
5. One attached file accompanied by a cover letter which provides the following information: (1) Title of the paper, author's name, institutional affiliation, mailing address, telephone and fax numbers, and email address. (b) Applicant's curriculum vitae (CV). (2) Two letters of support which stipulate why the applicant is deserving of the award. (3) A statement signed (electronically or by hand) by the candidate applying for the award certifying that (a) the material presented is original and is primarily the candidate's own work, and the material has not been previously published; (b) the contribution of the candidate to the paper is greater than 50% (in case of multiple authorship and he/she is the first of two or more authors); (c) additionally, if the paper is judged to be the winner of the competition, the candidate agrees to present it at the next annual convention of ICP.

Main selection procedure

1. The Research Awards Committee evaluates papers according to a standard point system.
2. The Chair assures that results are reported to the ICP-Board.

Prize

The prize for winning the research award will consist of

- a certificate
- US$ 200.00
- an invitation to present the research at the upcoming ICP convention
- there will be no registration charge at the upcoming ICP convention (registration waived)

Note: the 72st Annual ICP Conference will be announced in the International Psychologist with details throughout the year. (also check: <http://icpweb.org/>)

GUIDELINES FOR HOSTING AN INTERNATIONAL COUNCIL OF PSYCHOLOGY ANNUAL CONFERENCE AND BOARD MEETING

The International Council of Psychology, Inc. holds an annual scientific program and Board meeting each year. The conference host (local arrangements committee, coalition or proposal agents) must be a member of ICP, Inc. To establish the feasibility of submitting an application, a potential applicant might begin with an overview of some logistical issues for proposing a Congress venue:

Is there a conference venue to host at least 100 participants?

Are there sufficient hotel rooms close to the conference venue

Is there a scientific community to develop or sponsor the program?

How are Countries Selected?

If you believe your country/city/university would be appropriate for hosting an International Council of Psychology annual meeting, you may wish to submit an application. It is the ICP, Inc. Board of Directors that votes for the selection. Although it is hard to predict just what features of a proposal define the voting outcome, the Board typically takes the following items into account (the order of the items which are listed here is not necessarily in the order of importance):

Geographical Rotation among continents and countries attempts to guarantee broad geographical coverage, proximity to other major professional conferences, or in regions where psychologists may not have presented a scientific program previously.

The scientific community in the conference country is especially invited to participate in the scientific program.

Communication: There is a requirement for intensive and frequent communication between the Board President, Scientific Program Chair, Local Arrangements Chair, Workshops Chair, InAbsentia Student Posters Chair, and Awards Chairs.

Costs for participating in the Congress are another factor. The Board will expect that the registration fee will be reasonable, that there is a range of good hotel rates (particularly including inexpensive ones), and that travel costs can be kept as low as possible.

Despite efforts to keep costs low, travel is expensive for young psychologists, and for psychologists from the developing world and transition countries. It is therefore important to provide a plan that will guarantee special fees, housing, and support for those colleagues. This plan should be clearly outlined in the budget, including special provisions for ARTS programmes (by agreement, at least 30 ARTS participants are provided registration waivers).

A balanced budget needs to be provided in outline. It is important to show realistically how the income (registration fees and other) will cover your costs. It may be helpful to consult the preceding organisers of Conferences in drafting the budget. The budget is reviewed by the President and the Treasurer, who can offer advice.

The International Congresses of Psychology adhere to the ICSU principles of free circulation of scientists. Provide evidence that any scientist, from whatever country, will be allowed to enter your country without special requirements (except for the regular passport and visa). Based on former bids, it is a good idea to include an official letter from your country's government, stating explicitly that your country adheres to the ICSU principles of free circulation of scientists

Submit a letter of intent to the Long Range Conference Planning Chair.

The finalized application file should be forwarded to LRCP Chair, ICP, Inc., President and Treasurer several months ahead of the Conference meeting date.

I look forward to seeing your proposals for our future gatherings. Please send your information, in as complete a form as possible, to:

Applicant Committee Assignment Worksheet

_____ I volunteer for the Committee assignment shown.

_____ Please send more information on the Committee assignment shown.

_____ Archives Committee:

Committee Chair is liaison to and communicates with the Archives of the History of American Psychology at the University of Akron, Ohio. Information about AHAP is provided in the newsletter several times a year along with instructions for how members are to ship ICP records, older than three years to the Archives

_____ Area Chair:

Area Chairs represent ICP, Inc. in a specified geographic region. Country or State Area Chairs are coordinated by the World Area Chairs Coordinator and submit reports twice a year to the WACC for publication in the newsletter and for an annual report to the President and Board. Disseminating information about ICP, Inc. conferences, recruiting members, and organizing regional meetings are typical activities of Area Chairs.

_____ Awards:

Committee members issue calls for nominations in relevant newsletters and websites, solicit several candidates, review documents submitted, arrange certificates and stipends if provided, arrange for appropriate time allocations in the annual conference scientific program, prepare newsletter and regional announcements of recipients, in order of establishment by ICP, Inc.

_____ Distinguished Contributions and Outstanding Service to International Psychology. Frances Mulen Award [1986]

_____ Gender Research and Service: Denmark-Grunwald Award

_____ Early Career Research: Bain-Sukemune Award [1996]

_____ In Absentia Student Poster Exhibit and Awards: Dayan-O'Roark-BarredaHansen-Comunian [2005]

_____ Latin Student Research Paper presentation at Annual conference: Ernesto Gonzalez Rosales Alvarez / McCarthy Award [2009]

_____ Advanced International Research and Service: Fukuhara Award [2011]

_____ Membership Committee:

Committee Chair provides recruitment literature, records application information, updates contact data and membership details for newsletter publication, and welcomes new members, contacts non-continuing members and provides statistics on membership constituencies to the President and Board. Committee members assist the Chair with recruiting and maintenance activities in their regions.

_____ Continuing Education:

Committee members meet via telephone and email to develop call for proposals for workshops for the annual scientific conferences. CE administers the necessary documentations for awarding continuing education credits. In addition to developing the ICP, Inc. World CE program, the American Psychological Association CE sponsor authorization is maintained or arranged with allied organizations..

_____ Finance Committee:

Committee members review the annual budget and assist the Treasurer as requested. FC oversees and makes recommendations for ICP, Inc.'s financial investments and award programs. The FC audits the tasks of the Treasurer annually.

_____ Interest Groups:

Interest Groups are formed to enable collaborations on topics of professional concern or research. Groups plan joint research and/ or program events for the annual scientific conference. Papers are presented in the International Understanding section of the newsletter.

Currently active groups are:

- _____ Creativity & Education [Milgram]
- _____ Forensic [Lowenstein]
- _____ Health [Pir]
- _____ Peace and Human Rights [Neil]
- _____ Religion & Spirituality [Rayburn]
- _____ Women's Issues [Muhlbauer]

_____ Liaison Representatives

Individuals who are members of professional associations other than ICP, Inc. submit articles to the Liaison Coordinator for presentation of information about that organization in the newsletter and submit ICP, Inc. information to the association in which they hold membership/represent.

_____ Long Range Conference Planning:

Committee members solicit and review proposals for ICP, Inc. annual conferences 3 to 5 years in advance. Timing and sites are coordinated with major professional congresses. LRCP presents completed proposals from the proposal submitters. Once a Local Arrangement Committee (LAC) is established, LRCP provides information and assistance. The LAC makes arrangements for meeting site, hotel information, tours, banquet, and promotional materials.
